

A Community Effort

Community effort is that intangible source of power latent in all individuals which, when organized and directed, adds up, mite by mite towards a mighty achievement—a goal desired by all but one which is attained only through the united work which you and I contribute. Such is the feeling of the members of the Irma and District Board of Trade.

Many of our pioneer residents first saw this district as bald fire-swept prairie only a few years back. In most cases they arrived with a yoke of oxen, a tent, an axe, a rifle, a sack of flour and plenty of determination! In the space of a few short years they built homes, farms, schools, churches and communities. Now we have telephones, light, gas and modern transportation, including school buses—all wonderful achievements but only possible through the collective determination of individuals working together with a desire for better things.

Our district does not have a place in which the skills, talents, hobbies, projects and forms of recreation which flourish in abundance in organizations, groups and individuals in our midst, can meet and be enjoyed by an ever-widening circle. To provide for this lack of accommodation the Irma and District Board of Trade through their sponsorship of the Refrigerator Jamboree, are endeavouring to co-ordinate our pioneering spirit in building an arena community centre which past, present and future citizens of this district will point to and enjoy with pride as a fine example of Community Effort. You and I by contributing OUR share will make this possible.

Your $5 membership in the Refrigerator Jamboree will give you the satisfaction of helping to build your community bigger and better, and in addition, you have the chance of receiving one of the 10 International Harvester Company's Giant Size (9½ cubic feet) Refrigerators that sell for $385 (in case you already have one, or don't have electricity yet). In fact you could purchase 10 memberships for only $45 which could bring a possible return of $3850. Only of the business establishments in town will make out your membership, and those folks not now living in the district are asked to send their contribution immediately to any of the following members of the Board of Trade by Wednesday, November 5, 1952: Charlie Archibald, Ron Thurston, Larry Meier, Cliff Jones, Ross McFarland, Stuart Fenton, Frank Drewicki, Jim Hedley or Art Knudson.

In Edmonton, phone H. Elford, 76644 and 780654; Bob Smith, 28545; Jack Peterson, 86915; Jas. Soneff, 41255.

European Tour

By Arline Erickson

From Lucerne we went to warm, sunny Italy by train and passed through some of the most scenic parts of Europe. en route, also a 5-mile tunnel in Milan we visited the cathedral, which was several centuries old, and a famous cemetery, which is noted for its elaborate tombstones. We attended a symphony concert at the La Scala Opera House. The interior is richly furnished in crimson, white and gold, and there are 7 tiers of boxes, and elaborate chandeliers. We also visited a museum, the Cathedral at Padua, Juliet's tomb at Verona, an ancient coliseum, and an ancient theatre, still in use.

From Milan we went by bus to Venice, on a beautiful, straight highway lined with pretty trees, and stopped at several places of interest en route. In Venice our hotel was situated on a canal, and travelling about the city by gondola was a unique experience. We visited the Doges Palace, St. Mark's Square and Cathedral, the famed Lido Beach on the Adriatic Sea, and a jewelry and china factory.

We travelled by bus to Florence, the treasure house of art in Italy, and visited art galleries where some of the world's most famous paintings are kept; ancient churches, the Medici Chapels, and Michelangelo Square on a hilltop overlooking the city. The shops in Italy are especially noted for the fine leather goods, jewelry, china, woolen articles, mosaics, and straw markets.

The bus trip through Italy was very interesting and we saw many vineyards, and olive trees; Napoleon's Palace, Puccini's burial place and the Leaning Tower of Pisa. One gets an uneasy feeling climbing the many steps to the top of the Tower, but the view of the surrounding countryside is well worth the effort. We travelled through the hills, and along the Italian Riviera, stopping at several beautiful resorts along the way. An interesting feature of Italian restaurants is their famous spaghetti. It gets a big pat of spagetti topped with a meat sauce and grated cheese and this is served before the main course. There is a plentiful supply of food in Italy, and a large variety of cheese and fresh fruit is also served with the meal.

After stopping at Genoa, we went on to the tourists' mecca, Nice, on the French Riviera. There are about 2 miles of fine beaches and luxurious hotels along the Mediterranean, and palm trees and flowers are everywhere. By the confusion of foreign languages it seems that tourists from all countries vacation at this resort. We visited Monte Carlo, situated on a hilltop overlooking the sea, and on a summer's evening the view of the Mediterranean and the lights of Nice in the background is an especially memorable sight. Like most of the other tourists we spent a great deal of our time at Nice swimming in the warm sea, and basking in the sunshine. We noticed the great number of dogs being led around (or leading the master) and to see a woman with as many as six French poodles on a leash is not an unusual sight in France.

The all-day train trip from Nice to Paris during the heat wave was rather uncomfortable (no air-conditioned trains in Europe) but the landscape and the many farms and roads were interesting. The many sights in Paris kept us busy for one week: visits to Notre Dame Cathedral (climbed to the tower), the Louvre, Tuilleries Gardens, Montparnasse, and a boat trip along the Seine River. We attended the ballet (Sadler's Wells) in the beautiful Palais du Chailfort. The visit to the top of the Eiffel Tower afforded an excellent view of the city for miles around, the winding Seine River, and the great number of trees in the city. The many art galleries, museums, parks and flowers, the Champs Elysees with its fabulous shops and outdoor cafes, the Arch of Triumph with its twelve roads leading out, and the impressive Napoleon's Tomb, are all most interesting. The difference in language presents no problem to the tourists, as most hotels and shops employ people

The Kiefer Hall presented a colorful scene on the evening of Oct. 15 when under the personal direction of P. A. Miquelon of Edmonton, Dominion Grand Organizer of the Order, Irma Lodge of Elks No. 386, came into being with an initial membership of 57. Bridal Shower

The school lunch room was tastefully decorated for the shower held in honor of Miss Elfrida Fenton. The guest of honor and her mother were escorted to their chairs at the head table by Mrs. R. Dempsey to the strains of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" sung by those present accompanied by Mrs. S. Coulman at the piano. Mrs. C. Steele was the chairman for the evening. The program consisted of a song by the Sampson girls accompanied by Miss Joan Nison, contests conducted by Mrs. H. Bars and Mrs. M. Enger and a piano solo by Mrs. A. Glasgow. Remembering Miss Fenton's profession of nursing Vera Sampson and Shirley Lovig dressed as nurses, wheeled in a stretcher on which was the shape of a patient and presented this to her for examination. She was agreeably surprised to find this was a collection of gifts from her many friends. After the guest of honor opened these, assisted by Miss Olive Jack, she appropriately thanked the donors. The evening was brought to a successful conclusion by a delicious lunch served by the hostesses Mrs. A. Knudson, Mrs. R. Dempsey, Mrs. R. Simmermon, Mrs. C. Steele and Mrs. H. Bars.

A surprise shower was given Mr. Mervin Stephenson and his fiancée Miss Elfrida Fenton when the former's friends in the Gerald Jr. FUA gathered at his home on Sunday evening. On behalf of those present Mr. Glen Denocourt presented Mervin and Elfrida with a lovely electric table lamp.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father and husband, Leonard Owen who passed away October 25, 1945: We cannot say, we must not say That he is dead, he is just away. With a cherry smile And a wave of his hand He has wandered into that unknown land. Unknown to us that is to say, And so we hope we know and pray

That we will meet again some day So we think of him still as the same and say He is not dead, he is just away.

Chas. DeLage was found dead in his dwelling north of town on Sunday, evidently having suffered a stroke. Funeral services will be held today (Wednesday) at 2 p.m. from St. Mary's Church.

Our information just as we went to press last week on the accident on the Dave Henderson farm was somewhat incorrect. It was Ronnie and not Dale Henderson who was severely injured. He was taken to the Viking hospital where Dr. Caldwell and Dr. Klein gave skillful medical services to the multiple injuries, ably assisted by the kindly attention of the matron and nursing staff. Last Saturday it was decided to take Ronnie to Edmonton to Dr. Graham Huckell who is a specialist in bone surgery. We hope that young Ronnie will have a complete recovery.

Bound for Spokane on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Anderson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Sr., and B. W. Runyon. We understand Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Sr. will spend the winter months at Spokane and B. W. Runyon will return via Vancouver.

You're looking at a $50,000.00 part of the huge expansion program on which your gas company has spent millions of dollars in the last five years. Yet what you see is but a small portion of the $60,000,000 investment the gas service represents in Alberta . . . a service that puts the benefits of the world's most practical fuel within easy reach of all.

Maintaining this service is a round-the-clock job. Specially trained crews and costly equipment are required to make certain that gas, and plenty of it, is always there when you want it. Like everything else, our costs have skyrocketed, yet natural gas is still your biggest bargain.

Our fire siren, which speaks with no uncertain voice, sounded forth twice last week. The first occasion was when the tar wagon belonging to the sidewalk crew caught alight and sent a stream of blazing tar flowing merrily in the direction of the Irma Machine Works. The other alarm was sounded for a grass fire over on Queen St. In both cases the volunteer fire brigade brought prompt action to bear and no damage was done.

The Irma United Church will hold its 42nd anniversary services and supper on November 16 and 17. Plans are underway to make this the best one yet. The Men's Club is busily engaged in making new tables and benches while all the wonderful improvements in the church basement have to be seen to be believed. Be sure to attend both the service and the supper.

The weather of the past week has left nothing to be desired—except more of the same.

All Irma and district have thoroughly enjoyed hearing Don Clouston's broadcast over CJCA following the cattle sale at Art and Harry Long's. It was nice to hear how naturally the Irma folk speak when interviewed. We were especially glad to hear Mrs. Burrell and her paintings take a bow. European Tour who speak English as well as several other languages.

Travelling from France to the Scandinavian countries, one notices the change to the cooler climate, and the long summer evenings, with only about two hours of semi-darkness. In sunny Stockholm, the tour through the Royal Residence in the city, Drottningham Palace (the summer residence), the new City Hall, the ancient churches and the many canals, are among the interesting sights for tourists. Here again we found the many parks, flowers and outdoor restaurants a most pleasant change from the cities on this side of the ocean. In Sweden one finds the most exquisite glassware, silver, and hand-made articles in the shops, and the abundance of food, smorgasbords and Scandinavian hospitality, all make the tourist want to return to Sweden. I visited relatives in Ljungby and Vislanda, and along with my other impressions of Sweden I concluded that this country enjoys the highest standard of living in Europe.

In Oslo, the visit to the Viking ships is a "must" for tourists. These old ships are carefully preserved in a museum, as are also the ship "Kon-Tike," and the Roald Amundsen ship which made the expedition to the South Pole, and is open for inspection. The new City Hall, Holmenkollern Ski Jump, scene of the winter Olympics, and Frogner Park are also interesting sights. Travelling in Norway is a special treat as one never tires of looking at the beautiful scenery around: the fjords, the mountains, the ocean, and the many wild flowers everywhere. During the seven weeks in Norway I was able to see a great deal of that country especially lovely cities were Molde and Kristiansund, and the careful planning and re-building after the war, and the many parks, flowers and views, makes these two cities particularly outstanding.

The trip across the North Sea from Bergen to Newcastle on the new Norwegian ship, the "Venus," was very enjoyable, and the sea was quite calm. In Edinburgh, the Annual Festival of Music and Drama was in progress and there is a great deal of activity and entertainment for tourists during that special time. The many concerts, operas, ballets and plays presented draws great crowds, and makes it difficult to obtain tickets. The visit to Holyrood Palace, the Royal Mile, St. Giles Cathedral the Bantical (St. Giles) private apartments. From the castle, one can get an excellent view of the city, with its many spires, and the hills in the background. We attended concerts, also the flood-lit Military Tattoo, held every evening on the Castle Esplanade. A great number of military bands and Scottish pipe bands performed and the many different regiments and Scottish costumes was a dazzling spectacle. The Highland Games, which lasted five hours, and was held on a Saturday afternoon, was also interesting. Several Olympic finalists performed in the track events, and there were many military and Scottish pipe bands participating. The lovely Princes Street Gardens, situated between Princes Street and the Castle, and the unusual floral clock, are outstanding places in Edinburgh.

The tour to Loch Lomond and the Trossachs, and the two-day bus tour from Edinburgh to London, stopping at Cambridge and York and other places of interest, gave us a chance to see the countryside and the old castles and historical sites.

In London we visited the Tower of London, including the Crown Jewels, torture chambers and the place of execution, Westminster Abbey, Parliament Buildings, the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, Hampton Court, and Hyde Park. The soap-box orators at Hyde Park, are very amusing and draw great crowds every evening. The wax-works of Mince, Tussaud's are very lifelike and the figures of all the monarchs, famous statesmen, members of the Cabinet, and even famous criminals are preserved there. We attended a church service in St. Paul's Cathedral, and a radio and television exhibition at Earl's Court. The excellent transportation system makes it easy for one to get from one place to another in London, either by

The voyage home on the "Scythia" (8 days) was most enjoyable, and again we were lucky to have a smooth crossing and no seasickness. As we docked at Quebec we were glad to be back in Canada, but regretted that our wonderful trip was over, and are now determined to someday make the trip again, and take in all the places that we missed on this trip.
